MINTESOTA TO BE ADMITTED Gen, Shields for Lee

We have the most positive intelligence from Washington that Gen. JANES SUTTLES and HENRY M. RICE, Seasters from Minacesta, as well as the Representatives from that State, have given in their adhesion to the Lecompton Insquity, and that upon the strength of their assurances to the Remman, Minneaute will be admitted without delay.

We have long expected this intelligence, and we are not surprised that if has come at last. The Irish wing of the Democratic party, except here and there a deserter like Snowmout of this city, is committing itself rapidly to the Administration, and one month will not chape before there will not be an Irishman to be found who confesses allegiance to Doucas. If this tifty election now at hand, were to be postponed a fortinght, the thespands of Irishmen who have been deluded and humburged by Mr. Doucas candidates on the bolter's ticket, would be found in the field will a full tinket of their own on which the name of a Doucas man could not be found. there five weeks—that from the time of the mill their tongues should be unlossed. Their friends applied to the Supreme Goust for a writ of Saless corpus, and on Tuesday last, after hearing, the application was denied, and the opinion of the Gourt given. As the case is of such intrinsic importance, and as if may hereafter be cited as a precedent, we copy a portion of Mr. Justice Whiton's opinion:

The first question raised by the counsel for the settline was the power of the court to grant a writ of labbas copysa, it appearing upon the face of the papears in the case that the imprisonment was by order of one house of the Legislature. It was mill by one or mare of the counts for the relator (the Assembly), that this court ware to look no further, and had no power to interfere, because the process was then issued. The court did not look upon the law in this light. When the Constitution gave this court to you the law in this light. When the Constitution gave this court power to issue the writ of belows everyel, he in that light. When the Constitution gave the court power to issue the writ of holess coryed, power was given the court to release all persons unlawfully imprassmed. This had been the law under which the court had acted, and under which the court had acted, and under which they will continue to act.

The other points which the Chief Justice Section were in markiner as follows: —The court called were it markiner as follows: —The court called a property of the court is a first that the life histories is not colleged to proming the he objects of investigation. But the court will de-mere in investigation sources are made in the power of the Legislature. The court would not investigate whether a contempt could be complished against Both houses, because the Legislature half passed a law making a refusal to answer, a contempt of the house insuing the subporas. Without this law, a refusal to answer would be a contempt. The investigating committee is a legally contempt, the investigating committee is a legally continued to the force which issues the precess contempt of the house which is a legally contain, whichever his error which have been in the refusal of the House to hear its connect, it was an error which the court could not correct, as it was not a court of appellate jurisdiction from either

The Legislature has taken away fits danger and given complete indemnity to the winess. If there was no possibility that evidence given our legally criminate the writess, there is no excuse for his refusal to answer. If there is any case where legally criminate the wifness, there is no excuse for his prefused to answer. If there is any case where the witness claims this constitutional protection, and this set does not afferd him complete protection, he cannot be compelled to answer; if it does he must snewer.

The Chief Justice commented briefly on the law relating to witnesses, mying that some provisions struck the court was sixings and even aristacy; but of first the court was not the judges. They could not strip the Legislature of the high inquisitorial power which they had exacting which might be necessary for the public good, or even at times to protect the very existence of the State or United States Goyermannt.

After this opinion was read and concurred in by Justices Smith and Cole, the contunations witnesses lost no time in sending a note to the Committee that witnesses lost no time in sending a note to the Committee that they had dened, saying that their tongues had been unlossed, and that they were ready to answer. The investigation will now proceed, doubtless greatly to the unlightenment of the dear people and the edification of politicians and journalists. We shall be mistaken if the Committee shandon
